

Paul & O Architects has won planning permission for a new country house near Darsham in Suffolk. The scheme, known as the Wilderness House, is being hailed as one of the last country houses to gain permission before the introduction of forthcoming PPG7 legislation, which will instruct planners to refuse consent for such buildings.